33rd AIAG Congress Meets in Kansas City

This week Kansas City has the honor of hosting the 33rd AIAG Congress (International Association of Agricultural Production Insurers). This represents the first time the Congress (Convention) will be held outside of Europe. Speakers from various international and agricultural backgrounds will be present for this informative and educational event.

AIAG is based in Zurich. The members of their governing body Board of Directors represent nine different countries. Many of you attend the Crop Insurance Convention held in the USA each February. This Congress is similar, but encompasses a broader reach internationally. The theme of the Congress is Public-Private Partnerships and New Technology to Secure Food Supply.
